

PATHWAYS TO INTERNATIONAL SECURITY: A MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

BRUSSELS SCHOOL OF
INTERNATIONAL STUDIES
2008 ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Brussels, Belgium

May 17-18, 2008

CALL FOR PAPERS

In an increasingly interdependent world, international security issues need to be addressed in a manner which recognizes their multifaceted character and complexity. In line with this approach, the 2008 Annual Conference of the Brussels School of International Studies aims at tackling contemporary international security issues by fostering a multidisciplinary debate among graduate and postgraduate students in the fields of international studies, i.e. political science, economics and international law.

SUGGESTED TOPICS INCLUDE (but are not limited to):

- The Rise of Regional Powers and International Security
- After Riga: What Is at Stake for NATO?
- The EU and International Security: Where Is the ESDP Heading?
- Underdevelopment and Migration: Implications for International Security
- International Law and the Responsibility to Protect
- Environmental Issues and International Security

Please send an abstract of no more than 350 words prior to March 3, 2008, to: conf2008@kent.ac.uk

For more information, please visit:
www.kent.ac.uk/brussels/conf2008

University of Kent

Brussels School of International Studies

